ABOUT ME

Putting My Experience
to Work

Amy and her husband, Kirk, own S&J Scale Company on Barkley Rd. For a number of years, they owned and operated the Save-a-Lot Grocery Store in Statesville. Amy grew up in Cary, NC, but she and her husband moved to Statesville in 2009 to raise their family and be a part of her husband's hometown.

Amy lives with her family at 177 Park St. Her daughters, Winnie, 10, and Silvea, 7, attend East Elementary School and together they have fun with Zico, their German Shorthaired Pointer.

She serves on the board and is a past president of Iredell Museums, volunteers in her daughters' school, served on the Vestry at Trinity Episcopal Church, co-chaired Art in Bloom for six years, and currently serves as secretary for Fifth Street Ministries Board of Directors.

Lawton graduated from North Carolina State University with a degree in Social Work and North Carolina Central University with a degree in Elementary Education.
